Helping the old and destitute

SCV ROSS' outreach programs enable the isolated old and destitute to become aware of its services. Through ROSS, they can improve health, safety and quality of life. ROSS extends its serving hands to bring them once again to the main stream of the society to lead a dignified life.

Motivation to the people: since the beginning, ROSS decided to put this forward in the meetings of SHG women. They were motivated in the class and the necessity of helping old people, especially the destitute in their needs. They all agreed to help them in the best possible way.

Collection of rice: All together, we decided to provide rice and provisions for them. So in each SHG meetings all members bring some quantity of rice from their house according their capacity. We receive approximately 8 quintals of rice per year. Once in every three weeks we are gathering the old people and providing what we have collected; rice and provisions.

By seeing this intervention, we are appreciated well by the public, especially Sarpanch and ward members. They use to participate in our meetings and whenever possible for them and even help us in every activity. This made the providers more motivated, and they also join hands to help us as much as possible.
